EVS

"Time & Day Investigation"

Observe the sunrise and sunset timings for 5 days and record them in a table with columns for Day, Sunrise Time, Sunset Time, Length of Day, and any changes noticed. Based on your observations, write 3–4 lines describing any pattern you notice, such as whether the sunrise is getting earlier, the sunset is getting later, or the days are becoming longer or shorter, and explain why this happens. Explain briefly why day and night occur. Finally, draw a neat and labelled diagram showing the Sun, the Earth, and how Earth's rotation causes day and night.

Do this activity neatly on chart paper. Draw the table clearly, write your answers in neat handwriting, and make your diagram colorful and well-labelled.
